ARTICLE I

1. INTRODUCTION

There has been a dramatic increase in the ethical expectations of businesses and professions over the past years. Increasingly, customers and clients are deliberately seeking out those who define the basic ground rules of their operations with specific statements of minimally acceptable professional behaviour and conduct or of prohibitions in their dealings.

The Malaysian Tourist Guides Council's Code of Ethics sets forth the principles and ethical standards that underline the tourist guiding professional responsibilities, behaviour and conduct. These principles and standards are used as guidelines when examining everyday professional activities of the guiding industry. They constitute normative statements for tourist guides and provide guidance on issues that licensed tourist guides encounter in their professional work. The Code of Ethics is meant to be a living, growing body of knowledge, precedent, and experience. It stimulates the licensed tourist guides thinking and encourages them to seek guidance and clarification when there are questions about principles, practices, and standards of behaviour and conduct.

The MTGC's Code of Ethics is also intended to complement the Tourism Industry Act 1992 of Malaysia and other relevant gazetted legislation in the country. The MTGC supports the Malaysian Government legislation and believes that by the Malaysian licensed tourist guides making a commitment to best industry practice, the confidence of both customers and the public generally, will be enhanced which will directly better the tourism image of Malaysia.

The Code of Ethics is a developed statement of principles dealing with the industry practices in tourist guiding which are designed to set a standard of best industry practices and fair dealings between customers and MTGC affiliated tourist guides associations and licensed tourist guides. The Code of Ethics exists to instill public confidence in the operations of licensed tourist guides. Although the Code of Ethics is not legislation like an Act of Parliament, it is binding on and between MTGC's tourist guides associations and the licensed tourist guides; and customers may make use of the procedures set out in the Code of Ethics dealing with complaints and disputes.

The MTGC's Code of Ethics consists of an Introduction, Preamble, General Principles and Responsibilities, specific Ethical Standards and Administrative Procedures. This Code of Ethics also comprises Rules and Procedures of the MTGC and the tourist guides association Hearing Committee which describe the procedures for filing, investigation, and hearing complaints of unethical behaviour and conduct and the process of Appeal for those imposed with a sanction.

The General Principles and Responsibilities of the Code of Ethics are moral guidelines and they should be considered by licensed tourist guides in arriving at an ethical course of action and may be considered by ethics bodies in interpreting the Ethical Standards.

The Ethical Standards set forth enforceable rules for behaviour and conduct by licensed tourist guides and the application of an Ethical Standard may vary depending on the context. The Ethical Standards are not exhaustive. Any behaviour and conduct that is not specifically addressed by this Code of Ethics is not necessarily ethical or unethical.

Tourist guides associations affiliated to MTGC and licensed tourist guides commits to adhere to the Code of Ethics and to the Policies and Procedures of MTGC on Professional Ethics. Licensed tourist guides are advised of this obligation and that violations of the Code of Ethics may lead to the imposition of sanctions.

2. PREAMBLE

The Malaysian Tourist Guides Council is committed to ethical practices. The preservation of the highest standards of integrity and ethical principles is vital to the responsible discharge of obligations in the profession of tourist guiding.

This Code of Ethics expresses the ethical principles and values of the Malaysian Tourist Guides Council and serves as a guide to the professional behaviour and conduct of all licensed tourist guides and sets forth the fundamental principles and rules considered essential to this purpose. It also informs the tourism and the hospitality service industry which they serve of the standards of ethical behaviour and conduct for which licensed tourist guides are to be responsible and accountable. It has as its primary goal the welfare and protection of the customers with whom licensed tourist guides work. MTGC shall maintain a liaison with all entities, both public and private, which are interested or involved in tourism and hospitality ethics, particularly as they relate to the fields of tourist guiding.

The Code of Ethics articulates a common set of values upon which licensed tourist guides build their professional and guiding work. It is intended to provide both the general principles and the rules to cover professional situations encountered by licensed tourist guides as well as a useful guide for licensed tourist guides as they carry out their ethical responsibilities. The development of this set of ethical standards for a licensed tourist guide's work-related conduct essentially requires a personal commitment to a lifelong effort to act ethically; to encourage ethical behavior by those engaged in the industry as well as others working colleagues. It is the individual responsibility of each licensed tourist guide to aspire to the highest possible standards of behaviour and conduct in guiding, research, practice, presentation and service.

The Code of Ethics is designed to anticipate and accommodate, by precedent, ethical challenges that may arise. The scenarios outlined in the code provisions are actual examples of misconduct.

Principles of Ethics, aspirational or inspirational in nature, form the underlying moral basis for the Code of Ethics. Individuals shall observe these principles as affirmative obligations under all conditions of professional activity. The value of each tourist guides association and licensed tourist guide reputation depends upon the ethical conduct of each of the tourist guides association and licensed tourist guide setting an example for each other – as well as other professionals – by the pursuit of excellence with high standards of performance, professionalism, and ethical conduct.

Tourist guides associations and licensed tourist guides are accountable to customers, the public and their peers and are therefore subject to the complaints and disciplinary procedures of the Malaysian Tourist Guides Council. Any action that violates the spirit and purpose of this Code of Ethics shall be considered unethical. Failure to specify any particular responsibility or practice in this Code of Ethics shall not be construed as denial of the existence of such responsibilities or practices.

Violations of this Code of Ethics, however, do not automatically imply legal liability. Such a determination can only be made by due process and procedures sets out in the Code of Ethics. This peer review process is intended to enable MTGC to advise the tourist guides associations and discipline the licensed tourist guides in response to complaints either with peers or from the public and the customers.

This Code is not a static document but will need revisions over time because of the continuing development of ethical knowledge and the emergence of consensus on challenging ethical issues. MTGC and the tourist guides associations shall review and assess this Code of Ethics periodically and recommend any amendments thereto to the Ethics Committee.

4.3 RESPONSIBILITIES TO THE INDUSTRY AND COUNTRY

Tourism has emerged as an industry that will play a vital role in Malaysia's future economic and social development. It is an industry that impacts on a diverse range of economy activity and contributes significantly to job growth, revenue earnings and regional development. Tourism spending for example shopping represents a major injection of revenue into the Malaysian economy, also creating growth and jobs.

A key feature of the tourism industry is people and service. The "tourist experience" is largely determined by these two factors. It is therefore important to ensure that a strategic approach to planning and development is undertaken to ensure that the industry has the human resource skills to function effectively servicing and delivering the tourist's expectations.

A licensed tourist guide importantly as he is – is one of the very first person the tourists meet upon arrival in Malaysia and also the very last person to see them off. The “tourist experience” created therefore directly depends on how the licensed tourist guide keep the customers happy and satisfied by playing his role as a successful Malaysian “host” to these visitors.

In today’s tourism marketplace, the licensed tourist guide roles as spelt out in the Code of Ethics is to complement and support the effort undertaken by the government in its tourism plans and policies, and by delivering the desired satisfaction to every tourist handled. In this aspect, the most important element that the licensed tourist guide need is ‘competency’ and in the tourist guiding industry, such level of competency is crucial in the profession in order for the Malaysia tourism industry to stay a winner in the trade. The fast developing tourism industry of Malaysia will bring about new demands and new rules to the tourism business with customers’ expectations faceted. Therefore a licensed tourist guide needs to prepare himself to stand before unexpected future ferocious challenges in delivering his services. These moves will mean profound changes to the manner and methods the licensed tourist guide service the tourists and his responsibilities to the industry by understanding and applying customization and personalization in his job. Hence, the goal to make every tourist enjoy their stay with us should be the focus of the licensed tourist guide in carrying out his job to achieve our government’s tourism objectives.

4.4 RESPONSIBILITIES TO CUSTOMERS

Tourism plays a pivotal role in the economy of Malaysia. Delivering quality service will be one of the major challenges facing the licensed tourist guide in the tourism industry. It will be an essential condition for success in the emerging, keenly competitive global hospitality market. As this service industry continues to grow in importance, it is therefore imperative that customers have confidence in their dealings with licensed tourist guides.

Dealing with customers in today’s business and commercial world is not just part of the job but something that by large is “where, you get service and greater demands on quality”. Outstanding customer service is a crucial element in achieving competitive advantage in an increasingly competitive world. In the interest of fostering consumer protection, through the Code of Ethics the licensed tourist guide should provide services in respond to the needs and requirements of the tourists. The services provided by the licensed tourist guide require honesty, impartiality, fairness and equity, and must be also dedicated to the protection of the consumer safety and welfare.

We all know the saying that the customer is always right and this well known phrase is still applicable, though plans need to be set in place to ensure that both the licensed tourist guide and the tourists benefit from the outcome and to assure that the right decisions are made by the licensed tourist guide.

MTGC in this Code of Ethics provides guidelines for dealing with customers. It is important, for instance that when the licensed tourist guide is dealing with disgruntled and angry customers to remain calm and listen carefully to what the customers are saying thus providing an opportunity to prevent the situation from turning sour. By such actions the licensed tourist guide can understand what the problems the customers are experiencing and also what he intend to do to resolve the problems. Listening to the customers’ problems also enables the licensed tourist guide to be sympathetic and understanding, which will make the tourists feel that the licensed tourist guide cares and empathizes with them.

Customers today not only require but also expect good quality customer service. Good quality customer service means planning and giving personalize attention. Traditionally, customization in the tourism industry means giving the tourists what they want, while personalization is anticipating beyond their expectations of what they ask for. Attention to detail should be the hallmark of a better service through this Code of Ethics. Service that can seamlessly integrate our operations give priority to create national pride and provide top-notch tourist service. Sharpening our competitiveness shall allow us to evolve to be poised to accelerate service par excellence. The Code of Ethics therefore exerts a de facto regulatory effect, protecting both customers and the licensed tourist guide to establishing professional standards of their dealings and relationships.

4.5 RESPONSIBILITIES TO THE ENVIRONMENT AND WORLD

Tourism and the environment are natural partners, particularly in Malaysia. Tourism depends on the natural environment as one of its major attractions and tourism can often be an economic justification for environmental conservation and preservation.

It is therefore important that tourism developments are compatible with the conservation and preservation of the environment and that development takes into account the bio-diversity of the environment.

The licensed tourist guide can promote and assist in the adoption of best environmental conservation and preservation practices in the tourism industry by encouraging and enhancing community awareness of the values of conservation and preservation. His knowledge background in the various habitats to be visited will provide proper supervision of the tourists he handles, thus preventing disturbances and/or damages to the area, and enables him to answer questions of floral and fauna interest. Every nature trip with an experienced, well-trained and responsible licensed tourist guide who has a respect and understanding of nature and conservation and preservation issues relevant to the area will prevent any damage caused by uncontrolled access by tourists.

The Code of Ethics incorporated with its strong elements which reflect the respects frailty of mother nature remind the licensed tourist guide that there is always an urgent need to actively and consciously work to protect and preserve our natural environment and natural resources in all that we does. The Code of Ethics creates awareness and realization that unless the licensed tourist guide is willing to help in its conservation and preservation of the environment, unique and beautiful destinations may not be here for future generations to enjoy.

The licensed tourist guide involved in nature tours should be fully aware that the conservation and preservation of local species of floral and fauna which are fragile, rare or close to extinction should be the subject of conservation and preservation to save the population and habitat as much as possible. The licensed tourist guide should attempt to inhibit damages and to support or allow the regeneration of species damaged due to unsupervised encroachment by tourism development. These precautions should be applied to animal life of all kinds and all ecosystems. For animals in all waters and also for animals dwelling in caves within forests and coastlines such precautions should be observed with special diligence.

Through the participation of CTRE, the licensed tourist guide in the industry can assist and encourage input into research directed towards enhancing environmental conservation and preservation within the tourism industry.

By practising high ethical standards of their conduct while carrying out their duties, the licensed tourist guide involved should consider that in all circumstances, all factors of the human, cultural and natural environment contribute to an equilibrium where damage to one factor inevitably affects the whole complex. Planning and developing tourist activities within the area by the licensed tourist guide must take into consideration the interrelations of all factors of the environment : physical, biological, human, animal, flora, fauna, cultural and spiritual in order to avoid negative effects.

Appendix 2

RUKUNEGARA

PRINCIPLES

1. BELIEF IN GOD

This Nation has been founded upon a firm belief in God. It was in the name of God that this Nation was established as a sovereign state.

Islam is the official religion of the Federation. Other religions and beliefs may be practiced in peace and harmony and there shall be no discrimination against any citizen on the ground of religion.

2. LOYALTY TO KING AND COUNTRY

Malaysia is a constitutional monarchy and the Yang di-Pertuan Agong is the sovereign Head of State. Parallel with this institution of the Yang di-Pertuan Agong as a constitutional monarch is the continued existence of the institution of the State Rulers who are heads of their respective states.

The Yang di-Pertuan Agong, the Rulers and the Governors are symbols of unity and therefore stand above politics.

The loyalty that is expected of every citizen is that he must be faithful and bear allegiance to His Majesty the Yang di-Pertuan Agong and be a true, loyal and faithful citizen of the Federation. In addition, and without derogating from such loyalty, citizens who are subjects of the Rulers must bear true allegiance and loyalty to their respective Rulers.

3. UPHOLDING THE CONSTITUTION

Citizenship confers on a person membership of a state. The Constitution confers on a citizen certain rights and privileges; it also imposes on him certain duties and obligations towards the Nation.

It is the duty of a citizen to respect and appreciate the letter, the spirit and the historical background of the Constitution. This historical background led to such provisions as those regarding the position of His Majesty the Yang di-Pertuan Agong and Their Royal Highnesses the Rulers, the position of Islam as the official religion, the position of Malay as the national and official language, the special position of the Malay and other Natives, the legitimate interests of the other communities, and the conferment of citizenship. It is the sacred duty of a citizen to defend and uphold the Constitution.

4. RULE OF LAW

Justice is founded upon the rule of law. Every citizen is equal before the law. Fundamental liberties are guaranteed to all citizens. These include liberty of the person, equal protection of the law, freedom of religion, rights of property and protection against banishment.

The Constitution confers on a citizen the right of free speech, assembly and association and this right may be enjoyed freely subject only to limitations imposed by law. The rights and freedoms guaranteed by the constitution do not include the right to overthrow the Government either by force or by other unconstitutional means.

The Rule of Law is ensured by the existence of an independent judiciary with powers to pronounce on the constitutionality and legality of executive acts.

5. GOOD BEHAVIOR AND MORALITY

Individuals and groups shall conduct their affairs in such a manner as not to violate any of the accepted canons of behavior, which include the abhorrence and rejection of any conduct or behavior which is arrogant or offensive to the sensitivities of any group. No citizen should question the loyalty of another citizen on the ground that he belongs to a particular community. Good behavior also includes a high standard of morality in both our personal and public life.
